

Humanity United is an independent grantmaking organization committed to building a world where modern-day slavery and mass atrocities are no longer possible. We support efforts that empower affected communities and address the root causes of conflict and modern-day slavery to build lasting peace.

Humanity United invests in the power of ideas and individuals, bringing together the best in research, policy, and public pressure to activate local and global solutions. We aim to alleviate human suffering on a broad scale in the following areas:

Mass Atrocities: Humanity United makes investments to address current instances of mass atrocities and help prevent future outbreaks of violent conflict. In our work in conflict zones, we support global, regional and local actors working to mitigate the violence, monitor and expose perpetrators of widespread human rights abuses, and amplify the voices of those directly affected.

Modern-Day Slavery: Humanity United seeks to reduce the number of people trafficked globally and living under the conditions of slavery and forced labor – by supporting an ambitious global advocacy and awareness-raising agenda. Ultimately, we aim to build stronger national and international laws, institutions, and leadership committed to exposing and ending modern-day slavery.

Humanity United supports the work of ordinary individuals who unite in common action to bring about extraordinary change. By helping to build permanent constituencies to fight mass atrocities and modern-day slavery, Humanity United helps restore human dignity to communities where it is lost.

We believe that every human life has value and the global community has a shared responsibility to ensure that this value is realized and protected.
